11 NAKONG, JULY 1st, 1878.

THE case which recently came before the Police Court, in which it appeared that a Chinaman occupying a position of some importance, who is a prominent member of the Chinese Hospital Committee, and was spokesman at the recent deputation to the Governor, was charged with using impertinent language to a clerk in the Registrar-General's office, affords an interesting illustration of the effects which we may anticipate from the unfortunate policy of pandering to Chinese vanity and self-conceit, which has been of late encouraged at head-quarters.

The result is what everybody conversant with the Chinese mind readily has anticipated.

It was only natural that the Chinaman who unexpectingly found himself permitted to 'speak freely to His Excellency the Governor, should speedily find it in his heart to use unbecoming language to the Registrar-

General's Chinese clerk. We cannot expect to change strong natural characteristics in a short space of time, however; but we may have in the force of our superior civilization, and everybody who has become practically conversant with the Chinese, knows it, is their disposition the moment they are placed under a footing of some inferiority with higher officials, to become arrogant towards those in a lower rank.

The matter, however, is of more importance than merely as an illustration of the manner in which the Chinaman will act when encouraged to assert a position to which he is not entitled. It is clear from the manner in which the Chinaman was given to the Registrar-General's clerk, that attempts may be made to dilate to the Registrar-

General's Office, and thus, in fact, though not in theory, to the Registrar-General himself, how the business of the department should be transacted, and to what extent the Ordinances to which it is the duty of that department to attend, should be carried out. If this is allowed, there must be an end to almost every vestige of power of governing the Chinese in Hongkong; and we might as well at once declare that we shall abstain from every attempt to do so. It is, therefore, of the highest importance that anything like an unbecoming or coercive language of the kind that was brought to notice in the recent

JUDICIAL.

THE GUINNESS.—A gentleman, who was a hundred miles of Cape Town, I did not meet Miss Hopkins before she died, my dear friend. Well, now, it is as well as you are all dead. The judge rejoined that a little disreputable individual, who was summoned to serve as juror in Philadelphia, asked the Judge to excuse him because he had consequences, scruples against swearing; he had been there, and knew it was himself. The Judge asked him if he had ever been in prison, for robbery, and battery, and larceny? He was convicted.

IS REV. NEWMAN HALL'S CHAPLAIN LONDON?—The Earl of Derby (says a London correspondent) has consented to lay the foundation stone of Newman Hall (Hall's name), at the south side of Westminster Abbey, in June next. Two persons of the Royal were at first invited to perform the ceremony, and either of them would gladly have done so, but they both refused, respecting the religious jealousy of other sects, from whom private invitations had already been declined. Chapel is to cost over £30,000, most of which has been subscribed by English and American contributors.

INSURANCE.—There are several insurance companies, but of other questions, occur—“Age of father, if living?” “Age of mother, if living?” In one of the country who filled up an application as his father-in-law, if living 120 years. The agent was startled at this monstrous age, and said he got an excellent subject; but, feeling some doubts, remarked that the man came of a long-living family. “Oh! your father-in-law is so,” said the applicant. “If living” would be aged as a written down.” “Oh! I see,” said the agent.

JUDGE SENTENCED TO PENAL SERVITUDE.—The trial of Joshua Le Bailly, of the Judges of the Royal Court, was brought to a close, having lasted eight days. A mercantile firm, who was managing director of the Peninsular Union Bank, in London, and in possession of various securities deposited in the bank to the amount of £8,000, pleading fraudulent bonds value £5,000, with which to be defrauded; presenting a false report to alter the balance sheet of the bank, and notes falsely issued; and giving the guarantee of the bank to a private loan. He was found guilty on all counts, and sentenced to five years' penal servitude.

DIAMONDS AT THE CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.—In South Africa, differ from those found in other parts of the world, it is said, by not having a facet at which has to be removed before the stones are disclosed. Moreover, the Cape diamonds are small, and they are all more or less polished, whereas the diamonds of India and Brazil are pebble and dull. Another curious thing about these Cape or African diamonds is that they break off in fragments, and the reason there like many old signs. The diamonds lie 100 feet deep from below the surface of the earth, and pits dug from which men send up bucketsful or bucketful of earth to be searched for the precious stones.

A WAY OF QUASHING AN INDICTMENT.—A very curious point of law has just been made up in Baltimore. In the criminal court of that city recently, in the case of the late John F. Green, who was indicted for embezzlement and larceny of £15,000, the defence being removed from an adjoining county, Baltimore for trial, the defendant's counsel succeeded to the indictment on the ground that the word “criminally” was not in the indictment. The court sustained the plea. This point was argued at great length, and numerous authorities cited on each side. The defendant's counsel cited the acts of the British Parliament in force in Maryland, requiring all indictments to be made in English, French, and Spanish language, and contended that it would need was unknown to the language. Judge McMann, after giving his views at great length, sustained the demurrer, and quashed the indictment.

JUDICIAL.

The learned Judge has been informed by the Government that one gentleman who had purchased some of Cape Town diamonds was complaining a pretty good deal about his loss in the presence of his wife. "Oh! If I did not meet Miss Hopkins before we parted," said he, "my dear lady, my life would have been saved."

"What?" cried the Judge, "was the girl rejoinder?"

A little distressed-looking individual, who seemed summoned to serve as juror in Philadelphia, asked the Judge to excuse him because he had consequences; something against the law. He told him he was too much swearing; he had been there, and knew it was himself. The Judge asked him if he had ever been in prison for. He replied, "Well, for rape, highway robbery, armed battery, and larceny." He was excused.

'Age of mother, if living?' or an man in the country who filled up an application made his father-in-law, if living, 129 years old. The agent was asked how long he lived. He answered, "I am not quite so old as you think me, but feeling somewhat dubious, remarked that the man came of a very long-living family. 'O why your mother says so,' he added. THE CASE OF QUASHING AN INDICTMENT.—A VERY CURIOUS POINT OF LAW HAS JUST BEEN MADE IN BALTIMORE. In the criminal court of that city recently, in the case of the late John F. Green, a woman indicted for the felonies of larceny of $15,000, county, she being removed from an adjoining county to Baltimore for trial, the defendant's counsel demanded that the indictment be quashed on the ground that the word "County of Prince Georges" in the indictment was incorrect. This point was argued at great length, and numerous authorities cited on both sides. The defendant's counsel cited the acts of the British Parliament in force in Maryland, requiring all indictments to be made in the county where the offence was committed, and contended that it was not a clerical error. Judge Woodward, after giving his views at great length, sustained the demand, and quashed the indictment.

EMPERIAL QUARTO.
ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY, WITH THE
PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.
An Anglo-CHINESE DICTIONARY, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

FOR comprehensive and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have lately been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them are here given in a carefully selected manner, fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Puntl pronunciation are given, the accents being carefully marked so that the principle may be retained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not rarely marred by and obscuring with those heretofore characterized Chinese publications.
To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration:
This Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. It gives, despite all the grammar and other elementary works as yet published, the student of the difficult language absolutely ready examples to display the various applications and equivalent of different words which have one common meaning.—Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto published.
For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with native Chinese without the aid of a third party. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. The author, now resident in England and interested in

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and dark smudges or stains, particularly along the right edge and bottom. Faint horizontal lines are visible near the bottom edge, suggesting it might be part of a ledger or a page with a table. The overall tone is off-white or light beige.
